There is a Gain of Only 3,662 Since the Enumeration Made Ten Years Ago-The Population Given by Wards-Clay the Largest.

THE FIGURES RIDICULOUS.

Major Howard Thinks the Official Count 10,000 Short.

Major Howard, Chief of Police, said that the figures as given out by the Census Bureau were ridiculous.

"A census taken by mexperienced men, such as mose who were appointed here, must be inaccurate. In my way of seeing things the population as given out is at least 10,000 short of the actual figures.

"At the time it was begun many people were away for the summer, and many residences were closed. There were hundreds of men and women away at work on the farms and gathering berries Many of these latter go every year to the big farms around Norfolk and in other sections. They are mostly colored people, and nobody can tell exactly what the number is by simply calling at the houses and upon the neighbors.

"I feel satisfied that, even with the incentive to make their reports as large as possible, the enumerators did not use the care that seemed necessary to secure the best returns.

"The police are the proper ones to take a census. They know almost every one in their districts, and are familiar with the movements of all of them. They know when strangers move into town, and they know when the natural increase comes to a family.

a family.

"The police are also persistent, and are not discouraged when they are once refused information.

"If the City Council will make the necessary appropriation, my men will nt once proceed to take what is called a police census, and I feel confident that the returns will bear me out in my statement that the population as given through the census bureau, is far short of the

"The population of Richmond should be 120,000. Had the converextended as proposed a short while ago, this would have been the resuit. There are thousands of people doing business in Richmond and working at the various places here, who live in the immediate suburbs-people who receive fire and police protection from the city and whose tnierests are identified with Richmond, but who prefer to live just outside the corporation, who should have been brought into the city long ugo. "I am favorable to the extension of the city's limits to the Boulevard and to the extreme bounds of Barton Heights, Chestnut Hill, Chelsa Hill and Fulton Hill, This extension would put a further increase to the population of something like of Manchester. Three-fourths of the working people of Manchester are employed in Richmond, then why should they not be an actual part of the population?

"I would like to have the police take the census and believe they can show big difference, as compared to that just sent out."

WANTS POLICE CENSUS.

Mr. Whitney Tells What Was Done Ten Years Ago,

"I am fully in accord with what Major Howard says," declared Mr. J. H. Whittey, superintendent of the National Mer-cantile Agency, speaking of the low figures given by the census takers to Richmond "I am sure that Richmond has a decidedly larger population than that she is credited with," he continued. "I am in favor of a police census of the city, and feel confident that an increase of from 6,000 to 8,000 people will be shown over the figures given by the census just completed. I remember when about ten years ugo I was chairman of the Committee on Information and Statistics of the Chamber of Commerce, a police census of Richmond was taken and the police census showed a big increase over the Government's official count. I do not think that Richmond has gotten all that's

DIED IN THE BUGGY.

A Young Lady With Her Brother's Corpse in Her Arms,

(Special Dispatch to The Times.) (Special Dispatch to The Times.)
FREDERICKSEBURG, VA., Sept. 4.—
Mr. James Garrett, of "Hayfield," Caroline county, died suddenly yesterday afternoon while returning home from this city in a vehicle. Mr. Garrett had been suffering from heart trouble, and drove to this city to consult a physician. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Lizzie Garrett. On the return trip, while driving along the road about five miles below the city Mr. Garrett's hands loosened on the reins and his head hing down. He said to his sister as he fell over on the seat towards her that his time had come, and in a few moments was dead. The young lady, all alone, had to hold the dead body on the seat and drive the team to "Belvidere," a distance of several miles, the home of Mr. Julian Garrett, a brother of the deceased, where the body of the dead man was taken and prepared for burial. Mr. Garrett was a young man, twenty-five years old, a thritty farmer and very popular. The funeral took place tons afternoon at 3 o'clock from Bethesda, Rev. J. C. Eubank conducting the services.

Mr. Sidney _radley; of Louisa county, and Miss Rose Oliver, of Spotsylvania, were married at Spotsylvania Courthouse, Rev. J. P. H. Crismond officiating.

Complaints are still being made of the Northern Neck telephone line, which has been in bad condition for some time. Workmen, however, have commenced the work of repairing, and it is expected that messages can be sent with less difficulty when they complete their labors.

The death-rate in this city for the month of August was 16:3 per 1,000.

Mr. A. B. Bowering and Councilman W. E. Hurkamp, of this city, have been honored with appointments in connection with the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the World in Richmond this month, the former as a member of the Reception Committee and the latter on the staff of the chief marshal.

month, the former as a member of the Reception Committee and the latter on the staff of the chief marshal.

Rev. S. K. Forrer, who has been conducting revival meetings in Caroline, Louisa and Hanover countles, has returned to his charge, the Christian Church in this city.

-ne Rappahannock Valley Fair begins in this city three weeks from to-day. The large, attractive grounds have been put in thorough order, the race-track prepared, buildings and fences repaired and other preparations are being made. The entries in the various departments promise to be very large. Many fine horses are expected, and attractions of various kinds have been secured. All of the indications point to a successful and satisfactory exhibition.

The sewerage question is agitating the City Council and eitzens: A committee of the Council is conferring with engineers with the view of securing plans for a complete system for the city to present to the Council for action.

The hot weather and drought continue. The corn yield will be less than half a crop in this section.

Extract from a letter written July 3, 1900, by a Richmond gentleman to a friend, who contemplated attending a business college without our knowledge, until handed to us by its recipient, nor do we know the gentleman who wrote it:

"Dear Jerry.—Your letter received. I have this A. M. been to some of the business colleges, and I give here some particulars from the Smithdeat. This college ness colleges, and I give here some particulars from the Smithdeat in the positions has a very much greater reputation than any other, and its graduates find positions when those from other schools go begging * * * I wouldn't advise you to go to when those from other schools go begging * * * I wouldn't advise you to go to any college except the Smithdeal. It is so much more widely and favorably known than any other that it would be worth it if it cost a good deal more, which it does not."

does not."

During the past month, until recently, we have had an average of three applications a day for our students to take positions, mainly for male stenographers, with salaries offered as high at $60 per month. No vacations. Students may enter any time, but now is the best time. Call New 'Phone 1223, or visit the college office any time, or write
